

4) Stan now has enough quantitative resolution with behavioral tracking to assign robust behavioral phenotypes to individual animals, so manipulating individual cells and characterizing their contributions is entirely doable.

Single CantonS larva in ~24C and ~29C

